Equality of Opportunity

It is the policy of Albany Law School to provide equality of opportunity in its admission or access to or treatment or employment in its programs and activities for all persons without discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, age, physical or mental disability, genetic predisposition to diseases or carrier status, marital status, military status, domestic violence victim status, and any other category protected by applicable federal, state, or local law.

Prohibition of Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation

Albany Law School strictly prohibits discrimination and harassment because of race, color, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, age, physical or mental disability, genetic predisposition to diseases or carrier status, marital status, military status, domestic violence victim status, and any other category protected by applicable federal, state, or local law. Albany Law also prohibits retaliation in any form against any individual who opposes a discriminatory practice, makes a good faith complaint of harassment, and/or furnishes information or otherwise participates in an investigation of any such allegations, regardless of the outcome.

All members of the campus community are responsible for preventing discrimination, harassment, and retaliation. This policy extends to all Albany Law faculty, staff and visitors of the Law School’s facilities, and individuals attending Law School sponsored programs or events. Albany Law will not tolerate any such discrimination, harassment, or retaliation.

I state that our employment practices do not violate Albany Law School’s Equal Employment Opportunity Policy (To get started, Post Your Opening)
