Legal Profession Exercise #1: Lessons from Togstadt

1. Attorney-client relationship – He said/she said

   ■ How did Miller characterize their conversation in order to prove that there was not an A-C relationship?

   ■ How did Togstadt characterize their conversation in order to prove that there was an A-C relationship?

   ■ What was the court's basis for concluding that there was an attorney-client relationship?

2. What did Miller do or fail to do that was wrong?

3. After reading Togstadt, what procedure will your law firm follow to meet with new clients and yet avoid what happened to the Miller firm?

Firm signatures:

________________________

________________________

________________________

________________________